The Appomattox High School senior class will present its annual senior play at 8:00 P. M. on Dec. 5 in the high school auditorium. The play, entitled, "China Boy," is a rollicking, fast-moving comedy which gives the cast members an excellent opportunity to display their diverse talents. The characters are:

Mary Edith Ranson, Mrs. Parker, a somewhat harassed mother in her forties.

Will Parker, Clarence Grishaw, her husband and principal of the school.

Annie, Sandra Blythe, their maid of all work.

Bill Parker, Freddie Mitchell, their 17-year-old son.

Selma Parker, Demp Puckett, their 16-year-old daughter.

Bob Troutman, Sandy Burks, Bill's school chum.

Lulu Mae Robinson, Frances Sanders, a 12-year-old terroist.

Charlotte Mack, Dorothy Pulliam, a wealthy miss.

Mark Willis, Jack Tibbs, a very young philosopher from China.

George Robinson, Chas. Crawley, Jr., "meanest boy in town."

Hi-Y

In a previous meeting the Hi-Y Club elected the following slate of officers:

Sandy Burks, president
Joey George, vice-president
Freddy Mitchell, secretary
Dan Coleman, treasurer
Dave Almond, reporter
Dennis Drinkard, chaplain.

At a meeting Nov. 21, Sandy Burks discussed parliamentary procedure.

Jr. Tri-Hi-Y

At the October meeting of the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y, the following officers were elected: secretary, Gaynell Martin; reporter, Joyce Tolley; chaplain, Mary Lou Jamerson. Last spring other officers had been elected as follows: president, Peggy Lewis; vice-president, Nancy Chandler; vice president, Virginia Caldwell.

A report of the district council meeting held at Gretna was given by Nancy Chandler.

The following delegates were to attend the district conference held at E. C. Glass High School, Lynchburg: Virginia Caldwell, Kitty Lou O'Brien, Nancy Lewis and Peggy Lewis. —Reporter: Joyce Tolley.

College Day

On November 25, college day was observed at Appomattox High School. There were representatives present from the following colleges: University of Richmond, and Westhampton College, College of William and Mary, Virginia Military Institute, Phillips Business College, Mary Washington College, Richmond Professional Institute, University of Virginia, Longwood College, Madison College, Radford College, Lynchburg College, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Bridgewater College, and Ferrum Junior College. There were also representatives from Lynchburg General and Virginia Baptist Hospitals, and the U. S. Coast Guard. The juniors and seniors were given the opportunity to talk with the representatives from the colleges of their choice.

MESSAGE FROM LOCAL POSTMASTER

"Many thanks for your splendid cooperation during the busy Christmas season last year.

"To those of you who would like to help this year, we offer the following suggestion," says Postmaster Richard Wingfield:

"Please be sure to buy your stamps in advance and place them on your cards and letters before putting them in the box for collection. The Postal Regulations require that rural patrons stamp all greeting cards and letter mail during the month of December. Your carrier has a supply of stamps and you may buy them from him.

"When addressing your cards, include the postal delivery zone number if known. This will materially expedite delivery to the addressee.

Beef Production Tests

The answers to several questions which have been uppermost in the minds of beef producers are the aim of research underwal at the Southwest Virginia Research Station.

Among other things, the scientists there are delving into the question as to how much grain is necessary, in addition to pasture and forage crops, to produce yearling slaughter steers of desirable weights, grading good or better in the carcass. They also want to determine at what season of the year the extra grain should be fed.

Only two year's results are available now, and the researchers point out that their conclusions are only tentative.

THIS YOUNG LAD GOT A BANK LOAN

(Note: The following interesting item was handed us by a local reader.)

Los Angeles.- "May I help you?" asked the banker.

"I want to borrow $5," the boy replied.

"What are you going to do with it?"

"Buy a model aircraft carrier kit."

"How much does it cost?"

"Three dollars."

"Then why do you need five?"

"I want to buy some Christmas presents for my mother and father."

Assistant cashier Mike Musante got out a loan-application form.

Name? Billy Juster. Age? Eight. Married? No. Occupation?

"I go to school — and help my father."

"Do you get paid?"

"Yes—15 cents a week."

"Have you anything to put up as collateral?"

Billy handed over a baseball and glove.

"This ball is just about worn out," said Musante. He and Billy agreed it and the glove weren't worth more than $3.

"I've got a bat in the car," Billy said. He ran outside and returned with the bat.

"I think we can lend you the $5," said Musante.

Billy signed a note agreeing to repay the loan at 40 cents a month. Also 8 per cent interest, the bank's rate for small loans—an additional 40 cents.

"If you don't pay, we may have to sell this collateral and maybe repossess your aircraft carrier," Musante warned.

They shook hands. Musante gave Billy five silver dollars.

Billy's father, Harmon, general manager of a knitting mill, had stood outside in the lobby of the Bank of America branch throughout the transaction Friday. He told Musante the deal's background.:

Billy had asked his dad for the $5 loan. Juster told him: You know, son, when I need money, I go to the bank and borrow it."

"Let's go to the bank," said Billy.

Musante told a reporter, "ordinarily the bank doesn't make loans to persons under 21. This is a case of instructing the younger generation in getting money the way a dad would have to."
